AT LA HARTE, ILL., a girl of 18 returned to her father's house at midnight, smelling of whisky. Accompanied by a married man, who had taken her to a drinking party. The father shot the married man, and the coroner's jury returned an "open verdict," neither excusing nor blaming the father.

This is a strange happening in a prohibition country. Where could the married man get the whisky that he gave to the 18-year-old girl?

RUSSIA received the sad news yesterday that New York, biggest, richest city, is incorrigibly "capitalistic." In a total Manhattan borough vote of more than 363,000, the handsome Communist candidate for borough president got only 1,795 votes.

New York, evidently, is not ready to "throw off its chains" just yet.

BERTRAND RUSSELL says permanent peace will come after another big war, to be followed by a "world government" ruling all the earth.

If peace does not come until one government rules the earth, Bertrand Russell will have been dead 10,000 years when it comes.

Even if Japan should attack us, says Russell, if our people would keep perfectly quiet and peaceful, only "resisting passively," Japan couldn't get any farther east, say Nevada.

In Manchuria, where the Chinese are resisting only passively, Japan seems to find no difficulty in going forward.

The American character would have to change considerable in order to make only "passive resistance" possible.

WARNING for young women trying to look like skeletons, eliminating all fat from the body.

We are constantly bombarded by "diets," "fatigue electrified particles," constantly attacking our tissues. A thin layer of fat protects the body from this harmful bombardment.

Dr. Lark-Hovovitz of Purdue university proves that, and young ladies should take warning.

AGE DOES NOT wither, if the mind remains active. "The Merchant of Venice" was much applauded in Cleveland on Monday with Otis Skinner, 73 years old, as Shylock, and Miss Maude Adams, 59 years old, as Portia. Miss Adams were high laced shoes, a pleasant relief from modern female footgear that looks like a gilded set of Sheel-land pony harness.

YESTERDAY, you might have seen off the Japanese coast a small, uninhabited island. It isn't there now. The sea swallowed it yesterday following severe earthquake that destroyed telegraph wires, overturned stone fences. The disappearance of the island must make the courageous Japanese thoughtful. If an earthquake could swallow a small island it might swallow a big one.

INGALLS SEEKS GOVERNOR'S JOB

Assistant Secretary of Navy for Aeronautics, Republican, Enters Ohio Race

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy for aeronautics, will enter the race for governor of Ohio.

Ingalls, a Republican, who served two terms in the Ohio house of representatives before coming to the Navy department, will file for the May primary.

He said today he would conduct his campaign by airplane, as he has carried out many of his navy duties.

He will retain his post here at least until congress has acted on the naval aviation appropriations at the coming session.

"The necessity of being on the job in Washington," he said, "and at the same time conducting a campaign will run me pretty short of time. It is likely that I will have to use an airplane much of the time in getting around before the primary."

When Dirigible Akron Said "Howya" to New York

A bunch of superlatives is necessary in describing this picture. It shows the largest dirigible in the world hovering over the world's largest city, with the world's tallest building on the extreme right. Photo was made as the new Navy airship Akron went on a sightseeing tour over New York. The Empire State Building is seen at right, rising above a forest of giant skyscrapers. Gotham's millions turned its collective face skyward to watch the Navy's pride sail majestically over the city.

SCHOOL SYSTEM CHANGES LOOM

Mahoning County Anti-Administration Forces Are Victors in Tuesday Vote

Changes in administration forces of the Mahoning county township school system loomed today with victories, in Tuesday's election of Ralph Yauman, Springfield township, and Paul Sommerville, Gosport township.

Yauman and Sommerville, both waging pre-election campaigns on anti-school administration platform, polled 3,872 and 3,694 votes, respectively, to defeat John Yoder, North Lima, and Dr. C. H. Campbell, Canfield, who were seeking reelection.

Yoder and Dr. Campbell were supporting the present county school administration.

The new county board, which will assume duties on the third Saturday in January, 1932, will be composed of Yauman, Sommerville, Dr. J. H. Schuppenberger, Austintown; Harry Israel, Boloi; J. W. Hoopes, Smith township, was not a candidate for reelection.

Election of Yauman and Sommerville gives anti-administration forces four out of five seats on the county board. They will seek resignations of three assistant county superintendents, H. H. Druhot of Damascus; Ralph E. Elser, North Lima; Miss Ethel Spray, Boardman township.

Ohio Court Rules In Alliance Case

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—Seizure of mint vending machines as gambling devices is held lawful under a ruling by the Ohio supreme court.

The high tribunal upheld the lower courts of Stark county in refusing to enjoin Alliance police from confiscating machines operated by G. W. Snyder on the ground they were slot machines and as such games of chance. The municipal court, in separate actions, had dismissed Snyder on charges of operating a gambling device.

Other decisions:
Affirmed an order of the state utilities commission granting the eastern Ohio transport corporation the right to extend its bus operations from Bridgeport to a point beyond the north corporation line of Martins Ferry over the protest of the Wheeling Traction company.

Denied Fred Skelmuth, former Massillon police officer, a writ to compel Mayor Homer M. Johns to reinstate him. He claimed the charges on which he was dismissed were insufficient.

Death Reveals Solemn Pact, Sealed By 2 Adrift on Ocean

Thirst Tortured Men, at Mercy of Elements in 17-Ft. Boat, Provide for Families' Care; One Is Dead; The Other May Live

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A solemn compact, sealed between two thirst-tortured men in a 17-foot boat on the open Atlantic was in force today.

The task of carrying out its terms rested upon the emaciated shoulders of David Warshauer, for it came into effect when his brother-in-law and companion during nine days of hardship, died yesterday from the effects of the ordeal.

While they faced death with little hope for rescue, Warshauer, who is the father of one son, and Irving Tuchenyer, who left two small boys, agreed that if one of them was saved he would care for both families. Their wives are sisters.

Tuchenyer was unconscious when the men were picked up by the coast guard cutter Cuyahoga, Tuesday. He died of damp gangrene, exposure and shock after recovering consciousness long enough to recognize his wife and children.

Warshauer is in a serious condition with symptoms of the gangrene which results from long exposure to salt water, but physicians believe he will recover.

The two men were swept to sea October 25 when they attempted to run their outboard motorboat from Rockaway Beach to Sheepshead bay. Their fuel gave out in the face of an ebb tide and a stiff offshore wind. The Cuyahoga picked them up 40 miles south of Montauk Point at the eastern end of Long Island.

FAMILY'S FOOD SUPPLY IS LOST AS HOME BURNS

Charles Cope Dwelling Near New Garden Is Razed by Flames

WINONA, Nov. 5.—The large frame house occupied by Charles Cope and family, on what is known as the Ritter farm, a short distance north of New Garden, was destroyed by fire early Wednesday afternoon. A spark from the chimney, falling on the shingle roof, and fanned by a high wind is thought to have started the blaze.

The loss, it is believed, may reach $3,000.

Mrs. Cope and daughters were baking in the kitchen when they smelled smoke and upon investigation found the roof of their home on fire. Neighbors came to the family's assistance but were unable to save the house.

Water was hauled from other farms to save outbuildings near the house. Practically all the furniture was removed from the house, although the family's food supply, stored in the cellar including apples, potatoes and canned fruit was destroyed.

The loss is partially covered by insurance.

MISS KING WINS ORATORY EVENT

This contest was in preparation for the Prince of Peace contest Sunday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church. Four churches in the city, Christian, Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist, will be represented. Names of the contestants probably will be announced Friday.

The Prince of Peace contests over the state are sponsored by the Ohio council of Churches in the interest of international peace. Cash prizes and scholarships are offered.

GRAIN VALUE UP 125 MILLION IN PRICE ADVANCE

Estimate Is On Quantity Farmers Will Market In That Form

MAY WHEAT SECOND TO CROSS 70 MARK

Heralded as Possible Harbinger of General Security Rise

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Nat Murray, quoted by the Chicago Tribune today as a veteran crop expert, declared at least 125 million dollars have been added to the value of grain which farmers held for market by the recent advances in prices.

This estimate, Murray said, is on grain which the farmers hold and will market in that form, and does not include the increased income from grains converted into livestock, dairy and produce which the farmers will also market at increased prices.

500 Million Bushels of Corn
"Based upon reports from crop reporters," Murray said, "I find that farmers held 2,500,000 bushels of corn, on Nov. 1. This estimate considers that 5 1/2 per cent of the new crop had been fed by that date and that farmers were holding 75 million bushels of old corn. It is safe to estimate that 500 million bushels of corn will be marketed as grain by farmers.

May wheat, opening at 70 to 70 3/4, was the second deferred delivery to cross the 70 cent mark. July led the way to this new high mark for the season in the spectacular three cent rise late yesterday. Until then no wheat contracts had sold that high in the Chicago pit since last May.

May Lead General Rise
Heralded as a possible harbinger to a general return to higher commodity and security prices, wheat market attracted lively speculative interests. Trading was on a big scale, and the opening gains of 3-1 1/2 cent were quickly augmented by later transactions. Corn opened as much as 3/4 cent higher and also made further gains.

Drought reports from Russia added to a general belief that the Soviets would be out of the market in the future as an exporter. This opinion strengthened the bullish sentiment.

Heavy profit-taking slowed up the advance for a few moments, but this was absorbed with no great loss and the market continued to climb. After a half hour's trading, both wheat and corn futures were well over the opening figures and as much as 1 1/2 cents above yesterday's close. May wheat advanced to 70 3/4.

$50,000 BLAZE HITS CAMPBELL; FIREMEN HURT

Incendiarism Blamed As Explosion, Fire Razes Two Buildings

(By Associated Press)
CAMPBELL, O., Nov. 5.—An explosion and fire, declared by officials to have been incendiary, destroyed two large brick buildings here early today, with a loss estimated at $50,000. Several firemen suffered minor injuries.

Fire Chief James Gustinelli said he was convinced the blast was incendiary, and added that he expected to make arrests today. He believed gasoline had been scattered about, and a charge of dynamite exploded.

The buildings destroyed were occupied by a five and ten cent store and a restaurant. A theater and a bowling alley also were damaged. Five men sleeping in one of the damaged buildings were thrown from their beds and windows were broken within a radius of four blocks.

Plan Program At Prospect School

Prospect school will hold its program in observance of National Educational week, which is celebrated next week, at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday with Rev. A. C. CASH IS ON HAND FOR DISTRIBUTION

Christmas Accounts At Banks, Loan Company Reach $61,500

Checks totalling approximately $121,500 will be distributed to Salem residents as a boon to Christmas shopping during December by three Salem banks and a loan company, officials of the four concerns announced today.

This figure represents funds which will be sent by the Farmers National and First National banks and the Home Savings and Loan company to members of their Christmas savings clubs, together with a 10 per cent dividend planned by the Citizens Savings bank.

Will Be Mailed Dec. 2
Christmas savings club checks will be placed in the mail on Wednesday, Dec. 2, while the Citizens bank's dividend is expected to be declared later in the month. Citizens bank officials said that the 10 per cent dividend will represent a fund of approximately $60,000.

The First National and Farmers National banks and the Home Savings and Loan report combined Christmas savings funds totalling $61,500. Every cent of the Yule funds will be paid out, officials said, the Christmas club savings not being considered regular deposits upon which a withdrawal limit has been placed.

A. E. Beardsmore, cashier of the Citizens Savings, stated that no definite time has yet been set for distribution of the 10 per cent dividend but it is hoped that checks will be mailed during the middle of December. Sufficient funds are now available, he said for the 10 per cent dividend while it is possible that the amount to be distributed will reach 15 per cent.

A dividend of 25 per cent, representing approximately $134,000, was paid to depositors on Sept. 15.

Clubs Well Supported

No let-down was reported by bank and loan company officials in Christmas savings club funds, it being estimated that at least one out of every eight Salem residents holds such an account at one of the three institutions. Average amounts to be distributed to members will be about $55, the checks ranging from $12.50 to $1,000.

Thirty-eight per cent of Christmas savings funds, or $23,370 will probably be used for Christmas shopping, officials estimated, while it is also predicted that 72 per cent of

The handy old-world classification of parliamentary temperaments employs three general groupings: Conservative, moderate and liberal. Much as Americans hate to admit it their own legislative bodies are dividing themselves the same way.

Russia, newcomer to the international family, has taken a position in the liberal wing. Its unique political philosophy and youth make the surroundings there highly agreeable. There is, furthermore, the advancement of Communism to be considered. It could be attempted gracefully from no other position.

This week Maxim Litvinoff, foreign commissar for Russia, wrote a note to the League of Nations pledging his nation's adherence to the armament truce, which provisionally started the first day of November. Thirty-five of the 63 nations invited to the disarmament conference, to be held under League of Nations auspices in February, have signified their intention of supporting the truce thus far, among them being the United States.

Russia is critical of the project, though supporting it. It does not go far enough. It is not clear and precise, as an agreement of such importance should be. There is danger of "mutual recriminations and accusations which will by no means contribute to that atmosphere of confidence necessary for the disarmament conference," the Russian note reads.

Russia proposes going the whole way toward disarmament. It was only recently that Commissar Litvinoff startled Europe by saying that his nation was ready for universal disarmament. He knew then and knows now that Russia's neighbors, heeding fears, prejudices and ambitions Russia doesn't have, and recognizing binding traditions that mean nothing to Russia, cannot disarm completely.
Furthermore, he proposes going farther than Russia, itself, would find it safe to go, if what really amounts to a taunting dare could be taken by Europe, which is the joker in a vast deal of the ingenious thinking and talking that goes under the name of Liberalism. They lie at the farther extremity of Liberalism, where thinking begins to shade off into impossible radicalism.

The rest of the world is pleased to think that there may be an armament truce of a year. Russia, somewhat implisly, suggests a permanent truce, with destruction of existing armaments. When the experimental Russian system of government is as old as the once experimental governments of England and France, for instance, it will long for the good old days when it capered in the left wing of the international family, with everything to gain and nothing to lose.

What Others Say

HIS LAST GIFT
As Edison's life sands were running low, in the last week of his earthly career, four samples of rubber made from goldenrod were placed in the dying inventor's hand.
He smiled, well pleased. It was the tangible evidence of the success of his last great quest in the interests of humanity—a success attested by Ferd. Firestone and other rubber experts and scientists. It was the conclusion of years of search and experimentation in the effort to find a rubber-producing plant which could be grown in the United States. And Edison found that plant in the beautiful goldenrod of the autumn fields, a plant indigenous to almost every part of the nation.
This substitute for rubber, according to Mr. Edison's son, Charles, who is to carry forward his father's work, can be produced in sufficient quantity and quality to warrant its commercial exploitation.
Rubber and copper are two absolute essentials of industry. Their uses are infinite. The former now is regiant in superior expression. For our rubber supply we have been dependent on a foreign market, monopolized by foreign interests. The genius of Edison here has added another powerful factor to the economic independence of the United States. Our golden fields in the future will bloom to breed a world necessity. No longer bright and free waf of the hills and uncultivated lands of the country side, it becomes an additional source of wealth to the agriculturist, perhaps a very material source; nor will the world be deprived of its friendly loveliness. So golden reward is brought from the heart of the goldenrod by the genius of one who lived to realize the glory of a cherished dream come true.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Stars Say

Friday, November 6

A day of notable events may be forecast from the positions of major planets in intervention on the affairs of human achievement and stability. Through determination, strict application and stead-fastness to purpose there is assured increased possessions, enhanced position and the friendly assistance of those in high places. It is a day for returns for diligent labor and merit, with happy fulfillment of cherished desires business and personal.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of gratifying recognition and substantial reward for hard work, merit and responsibility. This may accrue in real possessions of land or property, with the assurance of friendly support from those in places of authority or position. Personal affairs may also develop happily and profitably. A child born on this day should be practical, industrious,

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—I visited the Connecticut home of Gene and Polly Tunney, four miles out of Stamford on a lonely rutted road, the other day and somehow wished that those who say Tunney is high with fame and riches might see how simply he lives.

The house, nestling close to the roadside with tumbled rock fence and white-washed swinging gate, is a story and a half—a white American-Connecticut structure of prim clapboard built 125 years ago. It is a Carot engraving set in the solemn sweep of tangled countryside, grim rocks and gray-spired churches.

Tunney bought the place with the rewards of one of his first big fights and has added to the land until he now owns thousands of acres spreading back of it. There are a small front porch, an Adam knocker and furnishings entirely early American.

When a caller steps at the gate a big and friendly police dog named Reolph, that the Tunneys brought from Germany, comes rushing around the house to bark a friendly greeting. What our forefathers called the front parlor is the champion's bedroom. The kitchen is pine paneled with large cupboards.

Floors, polished by age, are spread with rag rugs. A gaunt hall clock ticks soberly. The living room in the rear is halved by a projecting double fireplace, the cracking logs of which glint brass and crackling cheerful splendor. An earthy cellar with bins smells of fruit.

Tunney is up at 6 a. m. for light breakfast and a tramp through the wild grandeur of the woods with his dog. In this way he keeps in condition. In the rear is a giant elm under which he stretches of afternoons to philosophize and nap.

Aside from a venerable caretaker, the Tunneys are attended by two male servants—a Dalmatian and a younger man from Brittany. In a fleeing glance at his library around the fireplace I noticed works of Shakespeare, Henry James, Wilde's
Ballad of Reading Gaol, Van Loon's
Life of Rembrandt and a thesaurus.

In the exclusive reaches of fashionable Greenwich, where the Tunneys live and from whence came the beautiful heiress Polly Lauder, the burghers are extremely fond of the famous couple. It was sharply emphasized at Cos Cob. Inquiring of a red headed motorcycle cop directions to the champion's home, he leapt on his machine and led us there with a personal pride that was warming.

One reason for Tunney's extreme popularity perhaps is that there are not any "No Trespassing Signs" on his many acres. Almost everywhere around these warnings are conspicuous. He has requested, however, that there be no hunting on his land and his wishes have been rigidly observed. The Tunneys go to their Connecticut retreat early in May and remain until late November.

No public idol in my time has been so honestly sincere in a desire to avoid the huzzah of the crowd as Tunney. Even sceptics who hoisted at first it was an act of pose changed their minds. Following his marriage he remained a year isolated on the Italian island of Brioni.
Returning to America the greater part of his time, save a journey to Russia, has been spent on his Connecticut farm and in the Maine woods. He has been to the theater but three times in as many years. And only to dinner parties attended by intimates.

Ashton Stevens post-scripts that Chicago has the swiftest of all the depression signs gleaming red in electric lights. It reads, "Varicose Veins Reduced."

I continually confuse the actors
Louis Calhern and Basil Rathbone.
Side by side the resemblance is remote but separately I cannot tell one from the other. The climax to the mix-up came the other evening when I pointed out Mr. Rathbone as "Basil Calhern." And that reminds me that upon meeting the gloriously enchanting Mrs. Flske years ago, in a gush of idiotic excitement, I gurgled: "I am delighted to meet you, Miss Minnie."

Then there was that auspicious return back home from a city business college and an introduction by my father to an old settler from back in the hollow, who was extremely deaf. Accepting the introduction I uttered by reply with:
"I'm charmed." The old fellow cupped his ear and inquired: "What say?" To which my father snorted:
"He said he is pretty much a damned fool."

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

Importance of Vegetables

Most doctors advise and constantly stress the importance of vegetables in everybody's diet. Perhaps the very frequency of the advice is the reason it is so often neglected. We resent
what we hear too frequently.

Vegetables are the basis of good nutrition. They are important at all ages, but children should have every day an abundant supply of this food.

Vegetables carry
the vitamins.
These substances
are of great importance in the maintenance of nutrition and vigorous health.

Vitamin A is regarded by the authorities as the most important of all the known vitamins. Without it children become susceptible to certain infectious diseases. It has its place, too, in the preservation of health in adults.

Lack of this vitamin produces unpleasant eye symptoms, commonly known as "ophthalmia." It may even produce blindness and complications of lesser importance.

A particular form of eye disturbance caused by lack of this vitamin is known as "night blindness."
In this condition there is difficulty in seeing in poor light.

Green vegetables such as spinach, radishes, water-cress, lettuce and fresh fruits contain vitamin B. It is found also in peas, beans and glandular organs of animals, notably the liver and kidney.

Vitamin B is particularly valuable in the prevention of a disease known as "beri-beri." Persons deprived of fresh fruits and vegetables may become victims of this disease.

Another vitamin found in vegetables is that known as vitamin C.

This acts as a means of protection against diseases known as scurvy.

In addition to its presence in vegetables, vitamin C is abundant in the citrus fruits, lemons, oranges, grapefruit, etc. It is found in tomato juice and, to a certain extent in potato juice.

No meal is complete without the presence of at least one vegetable.
In addition to supplying the necessary nutritive elements, it aids in making your food more tempting and palatable.

Ringling in Ears MRS. L. M. S. Q.—What would account for ringing in the ears when there is no catarrhal condition or high blood pressure? My health seems to be fairly good and there is nothing wrong with the ear drums.

A.—The trouble in this case may be due to nervousness. The latter can usually be traced to some underlying condition. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks puny, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.
If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels.
Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in pimples. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing
when it comes to making the bile flow freely.
But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Reprint a

SYNOPSIS

Young and beautiful Fanchon Meredith leaves San Francisco by airplane to escape arrest in connection with a murder in which her sweetheart, Tony, is implicated. She had not known that he was a gunman. Evelyn Howard, whom Fanchon had met on a voyage from Hawaii, is aboard. She is enroute to New York to live with her wealthy aunt, Mrs. Allison Carstairs, whom she has never seen. The plane crashes and all but Fanchon are killed. Grasping the opportunity to start life anew, Fanchon goes to the Carstairs home as Evelyn. Mrs. Carstairs affectionately wins her heart. At Southampton, awaiting the arrival of her son, Collin, Mrs. Carstairs warns Fanchon not to take him seriously. He arrives and accuses Fanchon of being there under false pretenses.

CHAPTER XIII

The color drained from Fanchon's face. It isn't possible! she told herself wildly. For the last week or so, with returning strength there had come to her a feeling of peace and safety. And day by day she had grown fonder of, and more grateful to, Jennie Carstairs. She realized now with a wrenching pang that the great price of discovery and the relinquishing of her masquerade would not be the danger threatening her from exposure, the danger from Tony himself, but the disillusionment and righteous anger which she must face from Jennie Carstairs.

This was Collin then. She stared at him. He pulled up a low rustic bench, sat down, pulled a flat gold cigarette case from his pocket, opened it and meticulously offered it to Fanchon. Mechanically she shook her head, fighting for composure, for words. And waiting for him to go on, to tell her how he knew... what he knew.

"Now," said Collin Carstairs, lighting a cigarette and expelling the first blue smoke, "now, we may as well have it out! I know, of course, that coming to New York under my mother's protection was infinitely better than indefinite school teaching. I don't blame you for jumping at the opportunity. I merely wanted to explain to you if my mother has not—and I don't suppose she has—why I am unalterably opposed to this arrangement... Cousin Evelyn," he added, satirically.

Fanchon's breath came easier. So, his quarrel was not with her, not

"I marvel," Collin remarked, "that you were permitted to teach school so long."

with Fanchon Meredith, not with "Tony's broad," not with her masquerading and her deception, but with Evelyn! Well, as Evelyn, she could deal with him! In her relief, excitement and a sort of fighting spirit flooded her very veins. She sat up erect, in the swing and regarded him. The wind ruffled her blue-black curls, the warm golden skin was flushed with rose, and the strange turquoise eyes were dark with anger and emotion.

"I marvel," Collin remarked, regarding her with frank, if unwilling admiration, "that you were permitted to teach school so long! Four years, was it not? And I know that Hawaiian moons are very lovely and young men very susceptible. I've been in Hawaii," he said.

"Are you trying to pay me compliments?" Fanchon demanded.

It was her first word to him. He flicked the ashes from his cigarette and smiled. Her voice was as lovely as she, he admitted ungrudgingly. And there was a flash of steel through all the loveliness and softness of voice and person. Here was, he admitted to himself further, no simpering, silly, gushing little creature, as he had allowed himself to imagine she would be from her letters to his mother and his general mental impression of her, but a very beautiful and probably intelligent girl. An enemy worthy of his mettle.

"I'm not complimentary," he replied, and smiled, "I'm merely truthful. You are far better to look upon than I dreamed. Very easy on the eyes. But that doesn't alter the case."

"I take it," Fanchon said, de-mother wrote you, and you alone murely, "that you are not beside yourself with rapture at my appearance here. Why? What have I done to you? Are you afraid," she mocked him, knowing better, "that I will rob you of any of your rightful inheritance?"

His face darkened. He was really, she thought, an astonishingly handsome man. She hated him and despised him but his good looks could not be denied. They looked at one another with hostility, she with hot resentment, he with cool rancor. The very air of the rose garden, fragrant, rosy, sea-wooded, sun steeped, seemed suddenly electric with this curious and out of proportion antagonism between two young people.

"Hardly," replied Collin Carstairs, with forced indifference. "I happen to have far more money than I need. It is not my business nor concern what my mother chooses to do with her own. I would have been perfectly willing if she had accepted half a dozen girls—strangers—waifs, if need be, out of the gutter. I would have been more than willing, I would have helped. But— you!" he said, scornfully.

"What about me?" demanded Fanchon, angrily, "what, exactly is the matter with me...?"

"Far be it from me to elucidate," answered Collin, casually. "I think you know, perfectly well. Yet my hostility dates back further than your—escapades."

"Escapades?" thought Fanchon, frantically. Evelyn...? demure, prim, mouselike Evelyn... and escapades?

"In the first place," Collin went on slowly, "Your mother's quarrel with her family is none of my concern. But when, whether she had right on her side or not, at the time of the break, when my mother wrote her, making most generous and, I would say, abject offers of peace, your father took it upon himself to write my mother in terms that were little short of insulting. And your mother not only permitted this but encouraged it."

"Why, knowing what heartbreak this action afforded my mother, should I welcome you into the family simply because you found it expedient to change your mind? When, at your father's death my the letter you wrote to her in return was far from friendly. I can, as I have said, understand that you changed your mind because of the material advantages held out to you by my mother. I can understand that perhaps you were anxious to leave San Francisco before the heads of the school in which you taught learned of certain of your Hawaiian adventures.

"It was clear to me why you gave my mother's name as reference to the San Franciscan school and why your professional references did not date from the Hawaiian period. Naturally, a school which had dispensed with your services because of your conduct was not going to supply you with references! I suppose you told the people in San Francisco that your stay in the Islands had been in the nature of a visit. If you told them anything."

American Mission Worker Is Killed

(By Associated Press) NANKING, CHINA, Nov. 5.—Rev. J. W. Vinson, member of the American Presbyterian mission at Haichow, Kiangsu Province, has been slain by Chinese bandits. United States Consul General Willis R. Peck was advised today. Vinson was kidnapped last Sunday. His death presumably occurred yesterday. Immediately upon receipt of news Peck asked the Chinese foreign office for details of the incident.

At the instance of the American government, he had made representations to the foreign office following the kidnapping and was assured the Chinese government would do all in its power to obtain the release of Vinson.

The missionary is survived by three young children, all of whom live with relatives in Lexington, Va. His wife died several years ago.

Recover 2 Bodies From Logan Mine

(By Associated Press) LOGAN, W. VA., Nov. 5.—The bodies of two of the five miners trapped in an explosion in the Island Creek Coal company's Whitman No. 20 mine near here, were recovered late last night. The other three were carried out dead Tuesday night, a few hours after the explosion.

Rescuers came upon the bodies of Charles Frye, 31, fire boss, and James Hobbs, 38, timberman, after a 24-hour search.

Two hundred and forty workers escaped from the explosion which state mine officials said they believed was caused by a fall of slate liberating gas and breaking an electric wire. Sparks from the wire set off the gas they said.

emperor, Haile Selassie, calling himself "king of kings, conquering lion of the tribe of Judah, elect of God and light of the world," has inaugurated a "modern government" with a two-chamber legislature, and celebrated in a golden coach, once owned by Kaiser William.

A picturesque feature was a banquet of 10,000 Ethiopian tribesmen, wearing lions' skins on their backs, head-dresses of lion manes, carrying shields of rhinoceros hide and eating raw meat. It is easy to call yourself "civilized" and "elect of God," less easy to be civilized.

TWO REPUBLICANS, three Democrats just elected are wet.

The two Republicans from Ohio and Pennsylvania demand repeal of the prohibition amendment with light wines and beer while we wait. There are 150 wet members in the house of representatives now, a gain of 80 in three years, an important straw in the anti-prohibition wind.

Shooting Marks Kentucky Voting

(By Associated Press) BOWLING GREEN, KY., Nov. 5.—Henry H. Denhart, former lieutenant governor, was shot and wounded here today in the first serious clash of Kentucky's heated state-wide election.

Five shots were fired at the Democratic leader on a downtown street by W. K. Dent, a Republican worker. Only one took effect, striking below the shoulder and ranging downward to penetrate a lung. At the hospital after a preliminary examination it was said Denhart's condition was serious but he was expected to recover. Dent went to police station and surrendered.

Denhart, who is a World war veteran, formerly served as adjutant general of the Kentucky national guard, and is an attorney and former newspaper publisher. He is 55 years old.

have a Clear Skin—rich, red blood cells will help you

Of course you want a clear skin. Everybody does. It helps you win and hold friends. It makes for greater popularity.

Whatever treatment you may use for your complexion, remember the important fact that skin health depends upon the right number of red-blood-cells.

You cannot be low in strength and be happy—let's be happy.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.

Have Lost But One Game

Executives decided this morning that one price of admission will prevail at the game. No charge has yet been determined. The Boardman team, coached by "Buck" Burke of Columbiana, former all-Ohio center at Mount Union college, has lost only one game out of a hard schedule this season. South High of Youngstown, scheduled to oppose the Quakers here tomorrow night, defeated Burke's men, 6-0, early in the season.

A cold does 3 things

"Pape's" stops them all

A cold always affects you in at least three ways. Air passages are inflamed and irritated. Perspiration is checked. Bowels are clogged with acid wastes from the mucous discharge. So doctors say you must do three things to be rid of a cold.

Pape's Cold Compound does all three! It reduces inflammation and swelling of the mucous membrane; it induces perspiration; opens the bowels. Chew one of these pleasant tablets and see how quickly nasal discharge stops; head clears; breathing becomes easy. See how that achy, feverish weak feeling disappears. And "Pape's" doesn't stop with killing cold germs. It actuates bowels and removes germs and acid wastes from the system. All drug stores—35c. Just remember "Pape's."

Candidates Await Vote in Cleveland

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 5.—Potential candidates flocked thick and fast today into the discussion of who may be Cleveland's first mayor since 1923.

A primary will be held January 12, and the election a month later, as a result of the electorate's discharging the city manager plan by a majority of more than 9,000 in Tuesday's election.

Candidates must file by December 4, and already the list of those expected to run has grown large. The newest potential candidate today was Fred Kohler, who was Cleveland's last elected mayor.

Harry L. Davis, Republican, former mayor, and former governor of Ohio, also was considered a likely candidate, while Prosecutor Ray T. Miller was regarded as almost certain to be the Democratic candidate.

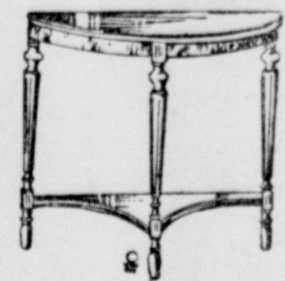

LEWISTON, Me.—Pay Ryle, railroad worker, has a photographic memory. After walking past a long line of freight cars once, he can write down, in order, registration numbers of the cars.

"Salem's Greatest Store for Men and Boys"

THEATER Attractions

TODAY'S FEATURES on the local movie bill include "My Sin" at the State and "The Mad Parade" at the Grand. The former is a story of the regeneration of a man and a woman through the great influence of an understanding love. Talulah Bankhead and Frederic March do fine work in the main roles.

"The Mad Parade" is a story of the war through a woman's eye. With an all woman cast composed of such stars as Evelyn Brent, Irene Rich, Lilyan Tashman, Marjorie Day, Louise Fazenda, Fritzi Ridgeway and the Keating Twins, it is a story of women and their brave fight that sometimes is forgotten.

COMING ATTRACTIONS for Friday and Saturday show "Homicide Squad" at the Grand and "The Beloved Bachelor" as the State's attraction.

Paul Lukas, Vivienne Osborne and Dorothy Jordan are the stars of the latter.

In "The Beloved Bachelor" Lukas is a man who is beloved of three women. The first is a French woman who has been model and inspiration for his earlier works of art. The second is an actress who, through a misunderstanding suspects him of having a dishonorable "past"—and the third is the young daughter of the now deceased model.

The play is a delightfully romantic one, with Lukas' characterization bringing a romantic glamor to the action throughout—and with the side-bursting comedy bits provided by Charlie Ruggles bringing a high levity in just the right spots.

"HOMICIDE SQUAD" stars Mary Brian, Russell Gleason, Leo Carrillo and Noah Berry.

The picture deals with the conflict between police and gangsters in a great city, and gives a remarkably interesting exposition of the methods of the modern police force.

A gangster leader kills the son of a police officer when the young man worms his way into the gang by false pretenses, and is about to expose the criminals to his superior officers.

This brings about an intensive warfare which is crammed with excitement, and involves a police "cleanup" of the entire underworld.

Today's Pattern

ADORABLE LITTLE MODEL PATTERN 2228

Here's a frock to delight the heart of any little girl and please the eye of the most fastidious mother. It is charming made of printed cotton or sheer wool and bound with contrasting braid.

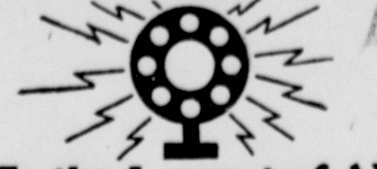

Pattern 2228 is obtainable only in sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12. Size 6 requires 1 7/8 yards of 36 inch fabric and 3 1/8 yards binding. No dress-making experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Send for the winter catalog. It features the newest in afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kiddies' clothes. Also delightful gift suggestions in accessory and transfer patterns.

Growing Deaf With Head Noises? Try This

If you are growing hard of hearing, and fear catarrhal deafness, or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, go to Lease Drug Co. and Broadway Lease Drug Store or your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmit (double strength) and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to take. Anyone who is threatened with catarrhal deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial. Adv

Powerful Line May Give South Team Edge Over Salem Squad

Quaker Eleven Holds Backfield Advantage In Game Here Friday

A dangerous Youngstown South High grid squad, boasting a powerful defensive combination and a backfield far superior to the average, tackles Salem High's array of varsity football talent at Reilly athletic stadium Friday night in the fourteenth annual battle between the two schools, rivals since 1912.

Only twice in the history of relations between the South and Salem squads has the Red and Black been able to triumph over a Youngstown eleven while a third contest, played last season, ended in a 6-6 tie. In 13 previous conflicts the Quakers have tallied only 45 points to 249 by the Southmen.

Win in 1913, 19-0

Salem's first victory came in 1913 by a 19-0 score then for nine consecutive meetings of the rivals South reigned supreme, many times by overwhelming margins. The next triumph came in 1929 when Coach Floyd Stone's gridders staged a sensational last-half rally to overcome a 12-0 handicap and win, 14-12, behind spectacular work of Ed Beck, William Smith and a staunch defense.

Coach Busty Ashbaugh expects his heavy and strong forward wall to give him a telling advantage over the Quakers who are still suffering from the frizzling battle with a gargantuan Wellsville team last week. The South line is expected to average around 180 pounds, slightly lighter than the Tigers but still heavier than the Salem seven by better than eight pounds.

Short practice workouts at Reilly stadium this week with Leetonia High's varsity displayed that Stone's worst fears were materializing and that, in all probability, he will be unable to throw his full strength against the invading Youngstowners. The varsity was able to score only three touchdowns against Leetonia in 25 minutes and frequent changes were made in the lineup by Stone in order to give several reserve performers a chance in actual competition to prepare them for possible performance against South.

Gordon Keyes Hurt

Gordon Keyes was forced out of the duel after a few scrimmages and Stone said Wednesday that he may be kept out of a uniform until Friday night while Ed Beck, the team's captain and quarterback, is also nursing injuries. Several line-men are suffering from minor bruises that are interfering with their participation in practice but Stone hopes to be able to have his regular forwards ready for Ashbaugh.

Erwin Beck, varsity end whose showing in past several games has gained him much distinction, is not expected to play and will probably accompany the school's cross country team to Columbus Friday afternoon. The harriers will compete in the Ohio cross country championship meet, defending the crown they annexed last year.

Early Goes To End

Beck will be replaced at the end by Norman Early who will be shifted from tackle to the terminal post. This will shove Loren Battin and Jim Fisher into tackles with Adam Pukalski and Ed Raymond at guards and Billie Corso at center.

South has two outstanding ends, Crawford, who formerly played in the backfield, and Benyon. Jobe and Sinowski are two big tackles while Palguda and Duff will outweigh the Quaker guards. Corso will be giving away at least 20 pounds to Minchart.

Lebanon Tomlin, colored flash, has not, in two previous games.

BUCKEYE BACKFIELD THREATS

THIS sextette of Ohio State grid-ers has been furnishing a large portion of the scoring power of the Buckeye team. Carl Cramer, Dayton sophomore, has shown great promise as a quarterback, being particularly adept in the open field. His punts have shown well in Western Conference and inter-sectional games and according to experts, he should be a real star before he graduates.

One of the best Buckeye fullbacks in years is the title earned by Mike Vuchinich. Vuchinich is a sophomore and has shown a great deal of ability in tearing off that extra yard when needed for first downs. Bill Carroll, who tallied twice against Michigan for Ohio State, is a junior this year and is showing enormous improvement over his previous playing. Carroll's specialty is end runs where his super-speed comes into its own.

Last year, Lew Hinchman showed to good advantage in the Buckeye backfield. This year this Columbus boy has been a real threat. He passes well and shows a lot of drive on plays through the line.

Stu Holcomb, the first Ohio State captain since 1927, is called on regularly to tote the ball for the Buckeyes. Holcomb is a driving type of halfback, in fact his early days at Ohio State found him at full. He also excels in basketball and track, being a dash man of no mean ability in the latter sport.

One of the "dark horses" of this year's team is Marshall Oliphant, sophomore. Oliphant has been handicapped by injuries but is said to be the best forward passer on the team. He expects to be a regular in the Buckeye backfield for the rest of the season.

Stapleton Defeats Brooklyn Pro Team

STAPLETON, N. Y., Nov. 5.—In the third and deciding National league game between two of New York City's three pro. Football teams, Stapleton defeated Brooklyn 13 to 0 last night.

Ken Strong led the team rejuvenated by Marty Brill's coaching, carrying both touchdowns over and kicking the extra point. The first touchdown came after a 65-yard march with Strong and Parkinson carrying the ball and the second after Tiny Feather ran 65 yards with an intercepted pass before being pulled down.

Yanks Buy Rookie

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Yankees have added George Selkirk, a young outfielder, who hit .310 for the Jersey City International league club last season, to the roster of promising ball players they will take to their training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., next spring.

YOUNG CHAMPION TRIMS MASTRO IN TITLE FIGHT

Battalino Forced to Limit to Defeat Chicago Featherweight

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Earl Mastro today was another one of the boys who have tried to knock the featherweight championship crown from Bat Battalino's head without success.

Fight Goes 10 Rounds

BATTALINO, who can be depended upon to fight like a champion when his title is at stake, did exactly that, last night, winning the decision after ten blistering rounds to thwart Mastro's challenge.

The Chicago Italian, a master boxer, fought a recklessly game fight, but the champion's ruggedness and never ceasing attack, won him the favor of Referee Dave Barry and one judge. The other judge voted for a draw.

Mastro came so close, however, that Barry's score card showed 51 points for the champion to 49 for the handsome Chicago youngster. The crowd of 14,022 spectators, left $40,353 at the gates.

Champion Sets Pace

Battalino, as usual, set his own pace and maintained it almost without variation every second of the way. Mastro outboxed him in spots and made him miss badly on occasions, but the end of every round found Battalino gaining the advantage. He scored two knock-downs, and his purposeful body attack slowed Mastro down almost every time the latter got nicely started.

Sam Confident Of Victory

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5.—Coach Sam Willaman of Ohio State university's football squad was confident today the Navy's style of attack would be no mystery to the Buckeyes when they clash with the midshipmen here Saturday in the annual home-coming game.

But the Ohio mentor announced there would be no let-up in his efforts to familiarize his charges with the midshipmen's tricks which are supposed to include a few Notre Dame tactics. Thus far, in this week's secret drills, the varsity has met with fair success against Navy plays as executed by the freshmen and Willaman hoped for more impressive action in today's workout.

How the Bucks really look will not be known to outsiders, however, until they appear on the field Saturday, because the gates will be sealed to newspaper men all week.

Is He Reverting to Form?

If Darwin had ever seen Jim Londos, champion wrestler, take a swing on the ropes of a ring such as the husky Greek is doing here, he'd think he had unimpeachable proof of his theory that man descended from apes. Londos was caught by the camera in this unusual pose as he awaited the charge of Matros Kirilenko, Russian challenger, in their bout in New York. Matros was pinned in 59 minutes, 31 seconds, with Jim retaining his title.
